

WOW-Win on Wealth

Important Member Message

November 11, 2022

Out-of-State Member Notification:

Win on Wealth is based in California and during the strenuous process of completing the regulatory requirements it was determined best to launch each state one at a time, starting with our charter state of California. We realize this structure was not a known factor at the time of the submission, and for that we apologize.

To support the proper regulatory requirements our licensed lender has nearly complete national coverage and will support our roll-out plans. Once the initial California launch is proven successful, we will launch Florida and thereafter Texas for our next levels of closings. As progress is proven we will add states and attempt to move back to authorizing files based on the submission dates as our scheduling benchmark.

Wow-Win on Wealth will remain vigilant about its performance, yet we ask for your patience and understanding as we launch under a strict audit control process to assure accuracy and proven scalability.

If anyone has difficulty with the required launch plans, we have always offered an unrestricted Refund policy, and for those out-of-state having no Corporate formation work initiated the Refund is automatically granted at full value repayment.

Please direct all Refund requests to the back-office login screens if you hold a WOW-Member ID # and if not please email your Team leader or our customer service account at Admin@wow-winonwealth.com for your Refund request.

WOW Management